Worksheet 12

Monday, November 25, 2019

Math 205

1. You have been assigned into groups of three for the week. Write down your colleagues' names and email addresses.

2. You throw a dart at a target on the wall. There are infinitely many points on the wall, so the probability that the dart hits any particular point must be zero. On the other hand, it must hit some point. Discuss ideas for how to resolve this paradox.