next year. It was moved that five (5) be taken as a basis for daily recitations, and one hundred (100) for the term examinations. The following was adopted by the Faculty, viz.

"On marking or grading, a scale of one hundred shall be used, and sixty (60) shall be the minimum. A student who receives one study, fails below sixty (60), is thereby conditioned as to his class standing, and in order to be restored to full standing, he must pass in a re-examination some time before the regular examinations of the following term; where, however, a student falls below sixty (60) in more than one study of the same term, or in one study in two consecutive terms (especially in the first and second term of the year) he shall thereby forfeit or lose his class standing.

The standing of students as regards scholarship, is determined, in regular classes, at the University proper, by means of examinations merely.

If the daily recitations of a student are below sixty (60), so that he is likely to fail at the term examinations, he shall be reported to the Faculty, and notified by the secretary of the fact."
