Tears Will Fall Freely Now

By John J. Donovan

Capo II

Verse

Tenor

Late at night, in the dark, in the silence I hear, Ear ly morn, news arives, my two girls turn and ask:
Eve ning falls, time for bed, "One more chapter please Daddy but

Acoustic Guitar

voices cry out, they ask: "How many times, must we keep on repeating the tell us the world is safe. No one will die. We're not sure what happened to past? All over and over again without end." Can't you much? Please tell us, please tell us, please tell us why?" But can day. It scares us, it scares us, we just can't sleep. But we hear the children say? "When will it end? Will we end, endless war some-I even try to explain, how injustice reigns, and of lives lived in hunger and can, if you lie here to night, close by our side, and tell us every thing is all

© 2001
Chorus

Tears will fall freely now, let them rain down. Wash the fear and revenge from our hearts. Only then will we realize, this is not war, and more killing won't even the score.

Ac.Gtr.