Finding Articles

To look for articles in journals, newspapers, or magazines, you will need to start with an index. An index will allow you to look by subject or a few keywords which describe your topic or by author.

- Academic Search Elite
  ASE provides full text for over 1,250 academic, social sciences, humanities, general science, education and multi-cultural journals. In addition to the full text, this database offers indexing and abstracts for nearly 2,880 journals. Full text backfiles go as far back as January of 1990, while indexing and abstract backfiles go as far back as January of 1984. This is a good database to use if your topic is multidisciplinary.

- ABI-Inform - http://libweb.uoregon.edu/dbs/indexes.php?go=1&prefix=abi. ABI-Inform provides access to more than 1000 premier worldwide business periodicals for information on advertising, marketing, economics, human resources, finance, taxation, computers, and more.

  Business Source Elite provides full text from nearly 930 journals covering business, management, economics, banking, finance, accounting and much more. In addition to the full text, this database offers indexing and abstracts for nearly 1,570 journals.

  This is a bibliographic database of the EU’s Central Library in Brussels. It contains references to information about EU topics in books, articles, EU publications, internet sources, and many other formats. In addition to the Central Library’s own materials, the collections of 20 of the Directorates-General are managed in this database.

- EconLit – http://libweb.uoregon.edu/dbs/indexes.php?go=1&prefix=econlit. EconLit provides subject indexing and abstracts for the discipline of economics. It includes articles in over 620 journals, chapters in books, and dissertations.

  GeoBase covers worldwide literature in geography, ecology, and related disciplines. It is one of the best databases for coverage of international development.

- Historical Abstracts – http://libweb.uoregon.edu/dbs/indexes.php?go=1&prefix=historical%20abstracts.

- PAIS (Public Affairs Information Service)–
  http://libweb.uoregon.edu/dbs/indexes.php?go=1&prefix=pais. PAIS International provides references to journal articles, books and book chapters, conference... proceedings, government documents, and statistical directories in the area of public affairs. Topics covered include government, international relations, environment, political science, public administration and more.

- Sociological Abstracts – http://libweb.uoregon.edu/dbs/indexes.php?go=1&prefix=sociological%20abstracts. Sociological Abstracts provides access to the latest research in sociology and related disciplines in the social and behavioral sciences. It includes citations since 1963 (abstracts begin in 1974) for articles in over 1,500 journals, conference papers, books and dissertations.

Finding Books

- UO Library Catalog (Janus) - http://janus.uoregon.edu/screens/opacmenu.html
  Identify books by topic, title or author; or identify journals and magazines owned by the UO Library. To find books ABOUT an organization or country, use a Subject or Keyword search; to find books BY an organization or by the government of a country, use an Author search. To find journal articles on your topic, use the databases listed in the section above. Once you have a citation, you can check the library catalog by doing a title search on the name of the journal to see if we have it here.

- Orbis Union Catalog - http://orbis.uoregon.edu/
  Orbis is a consortium of libraries that doubles our collection. You can borrow books not owned by the UO Library by selecting the Request Item option. Orbis works only for books. If you want to request a journal articles, you'll need to fill out an interlibrary loan form.

- WorldCat
  Worldcat provides access to library catalogs from around the world. The database contains bibliographic records describing books, journals, maps, musical scores, manuscripts, etc.
