SCHOOL OF MUSIC AND DANCE

Beall Concert Hall
Friday evening
February 3, 2012

live-version of Steve Reich’s Pulitzer Prize-winning Double Sextet, in a collaboration between the Oberlin Contemporary Music Ensemble and the new music sextet, eighth blackbird. She was recently selected as a winner of the Ladies’ Musical Club of Seattle solo competition, and will be featured on a live performance on KING FM this March.

Matt Keown is a junior percussion performance major at the University of Oregon. He has the traveled the U.S. extensively performing with the fourteen time world champion Blue Devils Drum Corps. Seeking to become a solo percussionist he plans on continuing his education and performing solo clinics, recitals and concerts with symphony orchestras.

Comprised of select graduate and undergraduate students from four different regions of the United States (Iowa, Hawaii, Washington, and Virginia), the Haller Saxophone Quartet formed in the fall of 2011 with the goal of providing audiences with the full range of twentieth and twenty-first century saxophone quartet literature. In light of successful performances at the Jordan Schnitzer Museum of Art and the University of Oregon School of Music, the quartet plans to expand its performing territory and program to culminate in a full quartet recital this spring.

The Scholarship Brass Quintet is a select group of undergraduate students in the brass area working towards a future in performance. Working closely with the Oregon Brass Quintet, the group has performed several times, representing the UO School of Music and Dance.

ABOUT TONIGHT’S ARTISTS

Melanie Meenan is a second year dance M.F.A. candidate and graduate teaching fellow at the University of Oregon. She has been awarded the Georgianne Teller Singer Dean’s Fellowship in Dance for two consecutive years. Meenan holds a M.A. in dance performance from Laban in London, and a B.F.A. in dance and B.A. in journalism from the University of Wyoming.

Baritone Harry Baechtel has extensive experience with the oratorio and art song repertory. He worked with Boston University's Opera Institute, and was a soloist in Boston Lyric Opera's production of Massenet’s Thais. Baechtel sang the role of Bob in The Old Maid and the Thief with The Berkshire Opera Company, repeating the role with Intermezzo Opera and Opera by the Bay. He has sung the roles of Schaunard in La Bohème and Morales in Carmen in consecutive seasons with Eugene Opera. Baechtel is currently pursuing his doctorate in musical arts at the University of Oregon, and is a student of Milagro Vargas. The last of his doctoral recitals will take place in March 2012, and he will give a recital of Hugo Wolf’s Italianisches Liederbuch at Viterbo University this Spring.

Flutist Esther Fredrickson, from Albuquerque, New Mexico, is a graduate of the Oberlin Conservatory and currently a master’s student of Molly Barth. Notable past experiences include working with young music students in Panama, performing with the Oberlin Orchestra in Carnegie Hall under the baton of Robert Spano, and premiering the
