Registering for a Variable Credit Course

It is very important—and your responsibility—to register for the correct number of credits for courses that are offered at variable credit. If you’re not sure, ask your instructor. On the on-line class schedule or the Look-Up Classes to Add screen through DuckWeb, you will see variable credit courses showing a range (A).

When you select a variable credit course, you will be registered automatically for the lowest number available credits (B). You must complete the process by returning to the Registration Menu and choosing the Change Variable Credits/Grading Option screen (C).
