Ebey's Landing Visitors' Center is located in Coupeville, WA. Coupeville is one of Washington's oldest towns and is also a part of the National Historical Reserve. Our site is located next to the historic Granville Haller House. Although the house was built in 1866, minus a few modern renovations, it still retains much of its historic integrity. This unique condition led to a design intent of essentially keeping the house as it is and building a separate visitor's center.

Design Intentions:
- Keeping the Visitor's Center close in scale to the site context.
- An open plan carried through all the aspects of the program.
- A clear indication of how the building works by exposing/creating voids to display circulation and how spaces relate.
