Spring 1992

Instructor: Dr. S. Hamilton
Office: 312 Straub Hall
Phone: x4927 or x4921
or 485-8136 (off campus office)

Office Hours: Friday 10:30-11:30 am

Readings:

Crooks, R., and Bauer, K., (1990) Our Sexuality, California: Benjamin/Cummings Publishing Company, Inc. This text is available at the University of Oregon Bookstore and is on reserve at the University of Oregon Library.

Requirements:

Each student is required to complete three in-class exams. Exams will generally consist of objective items. Students are responsible for all information presented by the text, readings assigned in class, speakers, and films. The last exam is not cumulative.

Make-up Exams:

Make-up exams will not be given unless there is a documented legal or medical excuse on professional stationery. Dr. Hamilton reserves the right to verify all excuses by telephone. Students in this situation will take an essay exam. Although the same grading standards will be applied to essay exams, please be aware that the equating of standards is necessarily subjective.

Incompletes:

In accordance with university policy, incompletes will not be given unless a contract is negotiated and submitted to the instructor prior to the last day of class. Otherwise, completed work will constitute the total points (even though there is missing work), and will likely result in a less than passing grade.
