HARP DAY BIOS:

JULIA KAY JAMIESON is an energetic performer, dedicated teacher, composer, and award-winning harpist. She is the principal harpist of the Cleveland Chamber Symphony, has given numerous world premiere performances, and has performed in SEAMUS (Society for Electro-Acoustic Music in the United States) conferences in 2012 and 2007. Jamieson has been commissioned to write several harp ensemble pieces, which have been performed across the country. She is a founding member and arranger for the harp quartet HarpCore 4. As a professional, she won First Prize in the 2002 American String Teachers Association National Biennial Solo Competition, and the School of Music Concerto Competition Finals in 2008. She soloed with the Danville Symphony Orchestra in 2009 and the Illinois Symphony Orchestra in 2010. Jamieson studied with Jocelyn Chang in Cleveland for more than a decade, and Susann McDonald at Indiana University, B.M., and Ann Yeung at UIUC, M.M., where she also served as a teaching assistant. During her tenure at UIUC, she won the Award for Excellence in Undergraduate Teaching in 2009. Jamieson's interest in harp pedagogy led to her writing The Young at Harp - a solo and method book for beginning harpists, and giving several workshops and masterclasses for harpists and composers.

LAURA ZAERR joined the UO faculty in 2001, where she earned a bachelor's degree in music performance and composition. In 1981-82 she studied harp in Paris with Bertille Fournier. She has a master's degree in harp performance from the Eastman School of Music. Zaerr is a member of the Portland-based Oregon Renaissance Band as well as the Eugene-based Oregon Bach Collegium.
