

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON

SCHOOL OF MUSIC AND DANCE

SpookTastic!

Fall 2014

Track Town Trombones

Henry Henniger, conductor

The UO Tuba/Euphonium Ensemble (Teuph)

Mike Grose, conductor

The Apocalyptic Brass

Grose/Henniger, conductors

Colin Hurowitz, drum set

Recording of UO concerts and events without prior permission is prohibited.

Performances sponsored by the UO School of Music and Dance are sometimes video recorded and photographed for a variety of uses, including both live simulcast and digital archive on the UO website, or for publicity and publications. Images of audience members may be included in these recordings and photos. By attending this event, audience members imply approval for the use of their image by the UO and the School of Music and Dance.

Season 114, Program 7

Aasen-Hull Hall
Sunday, October 26, 2014 | 6:30 p.m.

Track Town Trombones

Romeo & Juliet	Peter Tchiakovsky (1840-1893) arr. John Church
Leviathan	Jack Wilds (1952-2006)

Tenor trombones

Seth Arnold, John Church, Sam Dale, Kellyn Haley, Nick Ivers, Taylor Noah, Kyle Raze, Kenny Ross, Abigail Sanker, Bailey Schmidt, Alan Wood

Bass Trombones

Matt Brown, Jacob Rosevear, Stephen Young

UO Tuba-Euphonium Ensemble (Teuph)

Nocturne from A Midsummer's Night Dream	Felix Mendelssohn (1809-1847)
Allegro from Eine Kleine Nachtmusik	W.A. Mozart (1756-1791)

Euphonium

Brian McGoldrick, Cameron Jerde, James Garney, Reggie Frumkin, Charles Demonnin, Michael Blomenkamp, Stephanie Bautista

Tuba

Jake Fewx, Stephen Young, Gavin Milligan, Derek White, Scott Van Atta, Yuuki Divers, Cassidee Fosback

Apocalyptic Brass

Story of Boney Bones	Katy Leamy
Three Prayers	Kim Portnoy

The Track Town Trombones, under the direction of Henry Henniger, are the University of Oregon's trombone choir. The choir is both a performing group and a laboratory for trombonists who are enrolled in private lessons. Concepts learned in the studio are reinforced, and ensemble skills are refined. Repertoire includes transcriptions especially of choral works, from the Renaissance through the Romantic Period, as well as original works for multiple trombones in a wide variety of styles.

The University of Oregon Tuba/Euphonium Ensemble, under the direction of Michael Grose, provides an opportunity for students who are seriously undertaking the study of the tuba and the euphonium to acquaint the concert-going public with a beautiful sounding ensemble and a growing repertoire of new material, original works, and "ear opening" transcriptions of popular concert favorites. Since fall of 2001 the University of Oregon Tuba/Euphonium Ensemble has engaged in approximately 10 performances annually. The ensemble has given concerts throughout Oregon and Washington, including performances at the Oregon Symphony Orchestra "Concert Prelude" series (Portland), the 2009 Oregon Music Educator's Conference (Eugene), 2009 Music Educators National Conference All-Northwest Conference (Spokane), and the 2010 International Tuba and Euphonium Conference (Tucson).

The Apocalyptic Brass, co-directed by University of Oregon professors Henry Henniger and Michael Grose, combines the members of the UO Trombone choir and the UO Tuba/Euphonium Ensemble into one large group. Formed during the fall of 2010, the Apocalyptic Brass has already performed at high schools throughout the region, the University of Oregon campus, and will be making its Oregon Musical Education Association debut in 2012. The ensemble consists of 35 low brass players, performing transcriptions of large orchestral works and works written for low brass choir. The ensemble is frequently joined by percussion, which adds to the ensemble's exceptional sound, which is rich, full, and (some say) "earth shatteringly" loud.

Bony Bones was a blue Trombone
when he went on walks he went alone
his slide swung low with a mournful tone
he was sad to walk as a lone trombone

one halloween he walked outside
he went to the park to go down the slide
he slid right down in a long smooth glide
and at the bottom he just sat and cried

Oh how I wish I had a friend
someone to play with and to blend someone to call and text and tweet
we could go out and trick or treat

Just then he heard a brassy toot
and saw a black and pointy boot
there, in a costume she had stitched stood a euphonium dressed as a witch

“Boo!” She said “Ta Da” I’m here
to twist your tubes in knots of fear
I’ll cast a magic spell on you and turn you into a red Kazoo

Bony was scared but held his ground
he went way down low and made a scary sound
“I don’t like the color red
So how about we be friends instead.”

Ramona Euphonium said “well okay.
I can’t really cast magic spells anyway.”
So they decided where to meet
that night when they’d go trick or treat.

Bony met Ramona at a big oak tree
he dressed up as a skeleton, naturally.
“What’s that!?” cried Bony and looked around
“I thought I heard a scary sound.”

They went through the graveyard
“It’s just an owl.”
Ramona whispered, then they heard a howl. “ooooooooooooo”
“That’s not an owl!!”

Bony and Ramona started to run
“It’s following us! It’s on the hunt!”

“It’s a ghost! It’s a werewolf! It’s a ghoul in grandma’s underpants!
“It’s a monster! It’s a grumpkin! It’s a brass eating squnderfant!”

“Quick there’s a haunted house.
Let’s hide there it looks handy.”

“Wait! that’s not a monster.
It’s a tuba.

“My name’s Andy. I just got done trick or treating.
“Andy’s full of candy!”
