TaiHei Ensemble, The TaiHei Ensemble (pronounced “tie-hey”) is a new music ensemble in Eugene, OR, formed with the goal of exploring and enacting international dialogs across the Pacific Rim through music. In the 21st-century, now more than ever, the pursuit of cross-cultural interchange and understanding is an important part of our world, and we believe that it should thus be reflected through our art.

Music of “cross-cultural dialog” takes many forms, such as mixed ensembles of western and non-western instruments, compositions for western ensemble inspired by non-western musical traditions, and pieces that are only programmatically cross-cultural. With our rotating membership, including western chamber musicians as well as instrumentalists proficient on non-western instruments, we are excited to share these different explorations with our audiences.
