ORGANIZATION

The administration of the Graduate School is entrusted to a Committee, known as the Graduate Council, the regents of the University of Detroit, and to which the President of the University, the dean of the college of arts and sciences, and the chairmen of the faculties are members. The Committee may also be designated by the president of the University in the event of a vacancy in any of the above offices. It is charged with the administration of the school and with the approval of the sums necessary for its operation. It meets at least once per month and at any other time upon the request of a majority of its members. It may establish such rules and regulations as it deems necessary for the proper conduct of the school and for the protection of the students.

AIM

The Graduate School, in the different departments, adapts itself to the needs of its students. Upon the completion of the degree, the student is required to prepare and defend a thesis. The thesis is to be written under the supervision of a faculty member and must demonstrate the student's knowledge and understanding of the subject. The thesis must be approved by the faculty and the Graduate Council. The student is also required to participate in the organization of the Graduate Council and to contribute to the advancement of knowledge in the field of study.

ADMISSION AND REGISTRATION

Students holding the Bachelor's degree from this University or other institution whose requirements for the degree are equivalent, and who desire to continue their studies in the Graduate School, must be admitted by the Graduate Council. Students holding a bachelor's degree, but desiring to obtain a first degree in some other line, will register in the undergraduate department. Candidates for admission to the Graduate School must make application, upon blanks furnished for the purpose, to the Graduate Council, accompanied by a statement of their background and a letter of recommendation from their undergraduate institution. When approved by the Graduate Council, the applicant pays the required fees at the Registrar's office, and receives from the Registrar, each semester, a card to be filled out by his major professor. In cases of advanced degrees, the major professor must be the head of some department in which, either here or in the University from which he comes, the student has taken a sufficient amount of work to fit him for graduate study. The minor may be taken in undergraduate work. When made out, the study either the student be a candidate for an advanced degree or not, must be approved by the Graduate Council for formal approval. Otherwise, graduate students not seeking a degree are subject to the same regulations as undergraduates.

ASSIGNMENT OF STUDIES

The heads of departments in which the student takes work constitute his Special Committee, which determines his course, conducts his examinations, and certifies to the Graduate Council his work in his field of study. The head of a department in which the candidate for advanced degrees takes his major work shall be his adviser, and chairman of the Student Committee.

DEGREES GRANTED

The University now offers the following advanced degrees:

- Master of Arts
- Master of Science
- Civil Engineer
- Electrical Engineer
- Mechanical Engineer
- Mining Engineer

Candidates for Master of Arts or Master of Science must complete at least one year (thirty semester hours) of study in residence, except in cases of graduates of this University who may by special action of the Graduate Council be given permission to do one-half of the work in absence. The work toward an advanced degree must be divided between a major subject and minor, the former receiving approximately twenty semester hours of the latter ten. Six of the thirty hours may be at the option of the candidate.
