Concur Processor Responsibilities:

The department head and Concur Processor are responsible to follow all IRS and UO travel policy, rules and regulations. The BA Travel Office conducts regular transaction reviews of randomly selected completed Concur expense reports. Travelers may be requested to return overpayments identified in the review process. The Concur processor will be responsible to collect the overpayment. The sanctions process for noncompliance with UO travel policy is detailed at: <http://ba.uoregon.edu/sites/ba/files/policy/tro1.pdf>

Limitations

If a Concur Processor's Expense Report activity declines to less than six transactions per year, the travel office may revoke Processor permissions. Processor permissions are granted only for the user group for which the delegate serves as processor and has successfully demonstrated required proficiency. Permissions for additional or new Concur groups may require the delegate to demonstrate proficiency by processing a set of reports before processor permissions are extended. When a delegate relinquishes processor permissions either voluntarily or involuntarily, requalification is required to have processor permission reinstated.

I agree to process and approve travel reimbursements according to the rules, regulations, and processes governing UO travel and described on the BA travel web site, UO Fiscal Policy Manual, IRS Publication 463. I will not share my Duckweb username and Personal Access Code with anyone.

Department Head Agreement: I agree to the responsibilities associated with the delegated authority to approve travel reimbursements in my department, and will uphold the rules, regulations and processes governing UO travel as described on the BA travel website, UO Fiscal Policy Manual, and IRS Publication 463.
