A close-up photograph of a young boy with light brown, wavy hair and a bright smile. He is holding an open red book in front of him, with the pages visible. The background is a blurred library or bookstore with bookshelves. In the upper right corner, there is a graphic of three overlapping triangles in shades of orange and yellow.

WE ARE PARTNERS IN POTENTIAL. Thanks, partner.

In business, “Thank you” comes at the end of a transaction. Thanks for your patronage – have a nice day. We like to think it’s the start of something bigger. The University of Oregon College of Education is asking the big questions, and with the support of people like you, those answers are starting to come. We’re on a journey, and now you’re on it with us. Hope you have sturdy shoes.

At the College of Education, every day is Show and Tell. Come see what we’re working on, sit in on a class, or generally just make yourself at home.
