

The Eugene Natural History Society

Presents a Free Lecture:

Oregon Geology, One Road at a Time

Grande Ronde basalt flows in the Joseph Creek Canyon, Oregon. The Grande Ronde Basalt is part of the Miocene Columbia River Basalt Group. Photo by Marli Miller

Marli Miller

Senior Instructor, Department of Geological Sciences, University of Oregon

Friday, 17 April 2015

7:30pm, Room 100 Willamette Hall, UO Campus