

UO Women in Graduate Science Workshop Series Presents:

Dr. Stacey York

“StrengthsFinder” Workshop

This workshop will help students identify their professional strengths and how to use these strengths to their advantage.

Dr. Stacey York is the Interim Director and Director of Strategic Partnerships for the University of Oregon's Graduate Internship Program. Before coming to UO, she worked as a scientist in R&D for Johnson & Johnson.

After identifying strengths through the online assessment, this workshop will teach you to incorporate these strengths into resumes, interviews, LinkedIn, and more! WGS will provide participants with an access code to complete Gallup's Clifton StrengthsFinder assessment online prior to the workshop. RSVP required by Feb 15th @ uowgs.com to reserve your spot! Great for grads and undergrads! After Feb 15th we will email participants with information on how to complete the assessment. See www.gallupstrengthscenter.com for StrengthsFinder info.

for more information about us and our events, visit our website:

www.uowgs.com

Monday
March 6th, 2017
10 am to noon
KLA 107

Light snacks will be provided