Introduction to selected strands of Asian Religions. This course examines key concepts and practices from such Asian religions as Hinduism, Buddhism, Confucianism, and Daoism. This course is designed to provide in-depth samples rather than a broad survey, with a focus on sacred scriptures and scholarship as well as contemporary issues. The focus will be on philosophical understanding of religious ideas supported by a critical examination of historical context. We will study key ideas within the critical context of various cultural factors such as gender, class, and ritual practices. What is “Asian religions”? What is religion? What are the main ideas, practices, and stories?

Requirements

1. Attendance: This is an in-person class with discussion sections. Students can have one unexcused absence without penalty. Each class missed thereafter without prior permission will result in 1/2 grade penalty for the course grade.
2. Short exams: Two short exams based on readings, lectures, and course web site. First half of first exam is on writing papers.
3. Short papers: Three short papers on the readings. More specific instructions will be provided on the course web site.
4. Presentations: Students will make a presentation on the readings for one of the section meetings. The presenter(s) should NOT summarize the reading but should use the presentation to discuss why the selected ideas/passages in question are important for understanding the reading and proceed to explain as well as raise questions about these ideas/passages. The primary purpose of these presentations is to launch the discussion, not to give summaries or to lead the discussion. Each presenter or team of presenters will prepare a handout with 2 questions and brief, corresponding quotations from the readings. More detailed instructions will be provided on the course web site.
5. Medium-length paper: Each student will hand in a medium length final paper of 4-6 pages double-spaced. Suggested topics will be provided. Students may choose to create their own topics with the consent of their discussion section leader. In the case of the latter, a one-paragraph description of the topic must be submitted by email to the instructor one week prior to the due date.
6. Late policy on written assignments: Three grace days total will be allotted excluding the medium-length paper for which no extensions will be given. For all other assignments, a cumulative total of three late days will be allowed without penalty. Thereafter, each late day will result in a two-point deduction from the course grade. Weekends are not counted against the grace days.
7. Email Protocol. Suggestion: Begin the term using one of the following when addressing the instructor: Dear, Hello, Hi + Prof. Unno, Mr. Unno. If you like, you might later change to: Hello Mark, Hi Mark, etc., when you have established a working relationship with the instructor. Do NOT use: "Hey...." either with the instructor or with the GEs.

Learning Outcomes

In this course, you will: 1) gain a sampling (not a survey) of primary texts, ideas, and scholarship on prominent strands and themes in Asian religions, 2) delve into the assigned readings, uncovering layers of potential meaning, 3) gain an understanding of the historical contexts and possible contemporary relevance of the readings and course materials, and 4) further develop in your ability to write papers as well as read texts closely and reason critically.
