

UO Policies

- Post Your Comments and Feedback Here!

- Letter to OIs, ORs and OAs - 12/1/08

- UO Potential Conflicts of Interest Policy (Current Policy)

- UO Faculty Overload Compensation Policy

- Draft Conflict of Interest and Commitment Policy

- Draft Conflict of Interest and Commitment Committee Charter

- Draft COI-C Management Plan Guidance

- Draft Management Plan Form (Template)

- Table of Regulations and Guidelines

Conflict of Interest and Commitment
December 12, 2008 To: All Officers of Instruction, Officers of Research, and Officers of Administration From: R. Linton, Vice President for Research and Graduate Studies R. Tomlin, Senior Vice Provost for Academic Affairs Paul van Donkelaar, President of the UO Senate Subject: Continued COI-C Policy Review There have been a considerable number of thoughtful and substantive comments conveyed by faculty colleagues on the draft policy on Conflict of Interest and Commitment (COI-C). In response, the planned January 2009 roll out of the new disclosure process for COI-C will be suspended for an appropriate period of time to review and address the concerns expressed on the 'blog' or that have been communicated directly to Academic Affairs or the Office of the Vice President for Research and Graduate Studies. For the moment, then, the proposed new process is paused and existing policy and procedures will remain in force. Faculty with funding from agencies such as NIH or NSF, or whose research involves human subjects, will need to continue current disclosure practice as required by federal regulations. We recognize the need to further review the draft policy and to include faculty more extensively in that effort to bring forward an integrated COI-C policy and effective implementation process. We have appreciated the careful and collegial concerns expressed by colleagues such as John Bonine from Law or Alec Murphy from Geography, along with advice from the Faculty Advisory Council (FAC), that supported the need to incorporate additional ideas and insights rather than to press forward prematurely. To that end, we have agreed that Senate President Paul van Donkelaar will convene a small ad hoc committee charged with reviewing and, where needed, suggesting revisions to the draft COI-C policy to meet essential legal and policy requirements with a keen sensitivity to academic freedom and the culture of a public research university. The members of the ad hoc committee will be posted as soon as Paul has confirmed their participation. To proceed in this manner, the University requested (and received Wednesday afternoon) an extension of the January 31, 2009 deadline previously set with the OUS Internal Audit Division to the start of our next fiscal year, July 1, 2009. This extension permits at least a two-month period (January and February 2009) for a focused effort by the committee to consider the policy and associated disclosure form. It is anticipated that the revised draft will be presented at the March 11, 2009 UO Senate meeting. This permits, as needed, an additional period of review and comment by the faculty between March and June 2009. The new deadline to implement the disclosure policy and process, July 1, 2009, should allow sufficient time for better assimilation of both COI and COC issues. We're grateful for your help in moving forward in this way.

Copyright © University of Oregon. Privacy Policy - Contact Us

[Conflict of Interest and Commitment Disclosure
Form](#)

[Disclosure Form
Step-by-Step Instructions](#)

[Draft COI-C Disclosure
Review Process](#)

FAQs for Conflict of Interest

FAQs for Conflict of Commitment

[About the Disclosure
Process](#)

One-Day-In-Seven Table

Glossary of Conflict of Interest and Commitment Terms

Get Adobe Reader to view these PDFs.